

I oppose the consolidation of the broadcast industry. Democracy is best served by making available to the public as many points of view as possible. How can this happen when a tiny handful of giant companies own everything?

Rather than allow giant companies to own hundreds of stations, you should be forcing them to divest. The days when no company was allowed to own more than five broadcast stations of any particular type---five each of AM/FM/TV---were better days than these.

The consolidation of broadcast media serves no interest but that of those who seek to manipulate public opinion, and make a tidy profit doing it.

Thank you,
